Memorial Day Celebrations

What am I going to do on Memorial Day? How about a party...no, can't have a party unless we keep it to under ten. Let's go on a trip...start our vacation...no don't want to get on an airplane, or go where there might be a lot of people. Let's go to the beach...sounds good, but don't forget to check to see if the beach is open or closed because too many others had the same idea, and don't forget to plan to stay six feet away from each other...no, not worth it.

I've been thinking about what to do on this Memorial Day weekend and I think about the only safe thing to do is to do what I've been doing for the past three months. Stay home and stay safe.

Maybe the best thing to do on Memorial Day is to remember those who have died in war and the families they have left behind.

Let's continue to pray for peace on earth.

With love and prayers,
Sharon

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Maintaining Mental Health During COVID 19

These past several weeks have been challenging for so many of us on all levels – physically, mentally, spiritually, financially, and relationally. We have all been trying to adjust to new ways of being which creates stress, anxiety, and depression. As we learn to navigate these new challenges, it is helpful to have the right tools. Rev. Cathy Hart, LMFT and Amanda Hawkins, LMHC are licensed counselors and they would like to invite you to a ZOOM webinar on Wednesday, May 27, 2020 at 12:30p.m. We will be discussing how the pandemic has impacted our mental health and ways that we can stay fit mentally and emotionally. Please join by clicking the link below:

Reopening Questionnaire

While the governor has relaxed some of the restrictions forcing us to stay at home, we still need to maintain our patience and perseverance. Your staff is working with other churches in our community and with the recommendations of the Florida Conference, to determine the safest and best way for us to return to worshipping together.

Please click on the link below to take the PHUMC Reopening Questionnaire to help us formulate a plan for you.
